Peace, be still . . . (Mk. 4:39).

With a little effort, with practice and patience, we can learn to relax and let go, to still our mind, and overcome every disturbing influence. As we persist, our mind will respond with increasing quickness to the command "Be still."

Lewis A. Stout, Pastor
Mrs. Walter Young, S. S. Secretary.

Mrs. Harry Martin, S. S. Pianist.
Mr. R. H. Nordstrom, Church Pianist.

Welcome: "To the 'Little Friendly Church' on Court Street in Appomattox. Come early or you will miss the song service, which begins promptly at 9:20 A. M. You will want to be there for the S. S. service which follows at 9:30. We hope you will remain for the stirring and timely message Pastor Stout will bring during the worship hour at 11:00 o'clock each Sabbath.

We have many visitors through the summer from our various far away churches, and these nearby. We are very happy to know Mrs. Howard Carwile's little son, and mother, Mrs. Tuley, are back in their trailer near Charlotte C. H., Va., where they expect to spend the greater portion of their time during the summer months. They are members of a Richmond Seventh-day Adventist Church. For the past 2 or 3 years they have fellowshipped and worshipped with us during their stay in Charlotte County. Mr. Carwile is a Richmond attorney.

All visitors are welcomed, Adventist or non-Adventist. Come and bring a friend with you.

Baptist Conference To Be Held Here June 1

The Annual Stewardship Conference of the Appomattox Baptist Association will be held at the Liberty Baptist Church in Appomattox on Thursday, June 1, at 7:30 P. M. (EST).

Included in the program will be a message entitled, "The Cooperative Program, The Gateway to World Missions," by the Rev. Albert Simms, former President of the Virginia Baptist Association, and present pastor of the Rivermont Avenue Baptist Church of Lynchburg. The Rev. James Crawford, of the Liberty Church will speak on, "The Three Stages of the Forward Program of Church Finance." A Panel Discussion will engage the Associational Training Union, W. M. U., Sunday School and Brotherhood Officers on the subject, "The Church Organizations Promote Christian Stewardship." The program will conclude with the showing of the new audio-Visual Film, "The Virginia Baptist Story."

An added feature of the program this year will be special music by a Mass Choir, made up of choir members of the 40 Associational churches. Miss Joanna Stevens, Director of Music of Liberty Church and Mrs. M. H. Parham, of Charlotte Court House, will direct the choir. All choir members are requested to meet for rehearsal at Liberty on May 30 at 7:30 P. M. (EST).

All church members, especially Lay Leaders, are urged to attend this conference.

DEATH

ASC NOTICE TO FARMERS

Rules about adjusting "excess" acreages of corn and grain sorghum under the 1961 feed grain program will be the same as under the regular allotment programs, for the so-called "basic" crops according to W. D. Hix, III, Chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

This means that a farmer who is cooperating with the feed grain program but who unintentionally plants more acres of corn or grain sorghum in 1961 than are permitted for his farm as a "cooperating" farm will have an opportunity to plow up the extra acres in order to meet program requirements. In such cases, however, there will be a deadline for making such adjustments in the planted acreage.

In estimating the total planted acreage, the Chairman points out any acreage planted to field corn to be used for silage or to grain sorghum to be used for silage will be counted as a part of the total corn or grain sorghum acreage on a farm in 1961. Such acreage was likewise counted in determining the farm's base acreage under the program.

HOMEMAKERS' ITEMS

The old adage "Beauty is as beauty does" could be applied to upholstered furniture.

Home economists at Virginia Polytechnic Institute point out that externally two upholstered pieces may look alike. But one may have twice the durability of the other because of differences in internal material and construction. The high cost of one may be entirely offset when measured in years of comfortable service.

A few clues of quality are always visible, but the reputation of the dealer must be the main guarantee, the economists say.

The first essential for durable upholstered furniture is a properly made frame, preferably of popular, hardwoods such as oak and hickory tend to split. Frames should be assembled with spiral grooved dowels tenons, screws, and the best glue. Nails should never be used.

Triangular corner blocks should reinforce the four inside corners at the seat frame.

Webbing strips intended as support for springs should be of pure jute. Wooden slats are sometimes used instead of seat webbing, but they are less comfortable. In inexpensive furniture, the webbing is often omitted and two steel bar supports, with spring attachments, are nailed to the seat frame.

Springs should be placed as close as possible to each other, but should not touch. They should be sewed firmly to the webbing, or stapled to the slats. Small chair seats should have a minimum of nine springs rows, 13. Davenport seats usually require 36.

Each spring should be tied eight times, with the ends of each cross cord firmly knotted to nails on the framework. The springs should then be covered with burlap or canvas.

Inexpensive types of upholstery are filled with cotton, felt kanok, Spanish moss, and excelsior. Until recently, long curled hair was the best and most costly padding, but today rubberized hair and foam are good. These materials should be evenly laid over the canvas, covered with a layer of cotton felt over which is stretched a sheet of unbleached muslin. The bottom of the chair should be covered with black glazed cambric for dust proofing. Vinyl is also used extensively as a substitute for stuffing over springs, or both. It has many advantages - lightness, softness, buoyancy, durability, etc.

If you're thinking of sending the family out to dig the dandelions in the lawn - don't!

Horticulturists at Virginia Polytechnic Institute say unless you dig practically all of the root, your work isn't worth the energy it takes. The dandelions will come right back.

You can solve the problem of dandelions and other broadleaved weeds in the home lawn by good lawn management, and as a supplementary measure, using chemicals.

One of the best weapons to eliminating thedanger of spray drift. Details are included in Circular 820, "Lawn Weed Control," available from county agents or the VPI Agricultural Extension Service Blacksburg.

flight dandelions and other broad-leaved weeds, is 2,4-D. Spray when the weeds are actively growing. Apply the chemical in a coarse spray under low pressure when no wind is blowing. The temperature should be at least 60 degrees. On small areas use a sprinkling can.

Spot treatments can be used without spraying the entire lawn.

Futura's the one that never cramps your style...

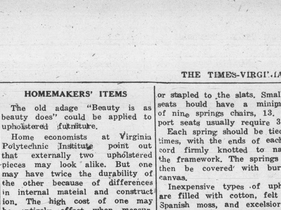
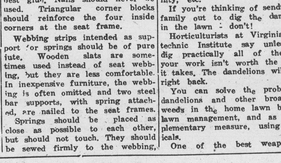
Some luxury compacts make you choose between your friends . . . and your luggage. Not the new Falcon Futura.



In a Futura you not only get a luxurious interior with individually contoured bucket seats, a handy console between them, wall-to-wall carpeting, and all the extras; you also get room for three people in the back seat, plus . . .

. . . a big roomy trunk. You put luggage in its place, not in the back seat which is reserved for your friends. Futura doesn't cramp your style—or your budget either! It's America's lowest-priced* luxury compact. It costs you less to run, too. Read about Falcon's record-breaking Mobilgas Economy Run win below!

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices



NOTE: Under the test conditions of the Mobilgas Economy Run, a Falcon, with standard shift, scored 32.6 miles per gallon . . . best gas mileage of any 6- or 8-cylinder car in the 25-year history of the Run! (Another Falcon was second, with 31.6 mpg!) Drivers of all cars were experts . . . and really out to win. But Falcon topped 'em all!
